ANCIENT TRIBES FOUNDED AZTEC ENLIGHTENMENT

Cliff Dwellers of New Mexico Responsible, Claim Of Scientists

NEW YORK, July 16.—Additional indication that the Pueblo Indian cliff dwellers at Aztec, N. M., founded the Aztec and Bonito culture has been uncovered by new excavations of the American Museum of Natural History. It was announced here today.

Discovery of a sealed room in perfect condition at the Pueblo Ruin in Aztec, surpassing in beauty and state of preservation any previously found in America, were reported to the Museum by Dr. Clark Wissler, curator of anthropology.

The interior of the sealed room is plastered and painted in brilliant white with a dull red side borders and a running series of triangular designs. Dr. Wissler reported a sacred serpent carved in wood decorates the ceiling. It is 2 1/2 feet long and of the finest workmanship. On the ceiling beams are imprints of hands in white paint. Several strands of finely made rope hang down and on the floor are a large number of nicely cut stone slabs, one of which was 2 1/2 by 1 1/2 feet and 1 1/2 inches thick.

Several adjoining rooms, seeming to bear a relation to this sealed one, are yet to be uncovered. Dr. Wissler stated. Continuing on the Aztec excavations, he said:

"Since the greater part of the west side is now uncovered one can get a full sweep over this immense complex of stone walls and quaint doorways. Our excavations have revealed that the greater part of the east and north sides of the city were swept by fire. The ceilings were of wood, supported by great logs of cedar and spruce overlaid by split cedar and bark. These fell down upon each other and lay in the lower rooms in great charred masses. We found the bodies of several unfortunates caught in the rooms.

"As the fire did not reach the west side we found a large number of rooms with their ceilings still intact and household utensils on the floor just as they were left."

NEVADA INCOME IN 1920 GROWS

More Autos Registered in Six Months of This Year Than in Whole of 1919.

RENO, July 15.—There were more owners registered automobiles in Nevada in the first half of 1920 than registered their machines the entire year of 1919, according to information received from the office of the secretary of state by Mrs. Carmen Jewett Wilkie, secretary of the Nevada Highway Association.

Thus far this year the state has received from automobile licenses the sum of $97,462.99. There are now registered in this state 9383 automobiles which have all been registered in the first six months of the year, while the entire twelve months of 1919 showed but 9305 machines registered.

Improvements on the highways of Nevada, and the fact that it has been demonstrated that the roads of this state, even though they are not in the condition at all times of a boulevard, are suitable for automobile travel has done much to stimulate the use of automobiles in Nevada.

Tourists are learning that by applying to the Nevada Highway Association the latest information on the roads can be obtained and the result is that many who come to rush through the state in the quickest possible way remain to see the scenic beauties of the state, staying in Nevada more than thirty days and therefore being required to take out a license. 1920 will see more than double the number of autos registered in Nevada.

BRITON WARNED AGAINST LENINE

Churchill Declares Bolsheviki Would Start Revolution in England.

(Correspondence of Associated Press)
 LONDON, June 25.—The Russian Soviet government, through Nikola Lenin, seeks "to start the British nation off on that same career of revolutionary violence which has made Russia such a jolly place to live in," Winston Churchill, Minister of War, declared in an article published in Evening News, answering a report by a British labor delegation which visited Russia and a letter directed to the British people by Lenin.

Should the soviet system be established in England the War Minister believes that not only would freedom of the press and freedom of thought be swept away but the English labor leaders themselves would "share the fate of Kerensky, the Mensheviks and social revolutionaries in Russia."

Ruined Country.
 The War Minister charged Lenin with having ruined his own country and said it was natural he should wish "to have all other nations reduced to the same level of misery, in order that his own earnings may be covered in the general chaos," wrote Mr. Churchill.

"Russia was on the threshold of victory,"

"After all her struggles she was within reach of the goal. The Germans sent in Lenin as poison gas is sent sealed in a cylinder and he robbed her of the victory she had all but won and which she might have shared with us."

"A million Germans, released by his act of treachery, were let loose on the French and British fronts, and nearly that number of British and French soldiers are dead or mutilated in consequence instead of victors to give Russia shame and unassailable disaster."

"Lenin destroyed the Russian republic. He dissolved the Russian parliament. He had the bulk of its members hunted down and killed. He has robbed his country of victory, peace and freedom, and what has he given them in exchange?"

Food Center.
 "Russia, the great food producing center of the world, weakened with famine, the towns depopulated, to have their numbers, the workmen scattered, destroyed and the rest enervated or demoralized, hundreds of thousands of people driven in the woods and mountains to form 'Green Guards' like Robin Hood in the Middle Ages, the railways in which the whole economic civilization of those great regions depend, sinking hopelessly into absolute stagnation."

"Only the peasant with his rifle in his village guards the hard won produce of his individual toil, refuses to sell the fruits of his labor for worthless paper money, and keeps alive the old Russian love of hoarding and home. 'The egoism of the peasant,' says Lenin, 'must now be broken.'"

"This, then, is the man whom the crazy portion of the Socialist party has been worshipping. He has now revealed his measure and his mentality to the British public and he appeals to them to create in Britain that enslaved, infected, starving and venomous Bedlam to which he has reduced the noble and mighty Russian state and nation."

FISH 50 FEET LONG IS FOUND IN ROCKS

(By Associated Press)
 SALT LAKE CITY, July 15.—A monster petrified fish, about 50 feet in length, has been discovered in the rocks in Garfield county, Utah, about 70 miles west of Panguitch by Sheriff James Goodhue of Garfield county and T. W. Smith of Salt Lake, who were on a prospecting trip.

Four years ago at practically the same spot the fossil remains of a giant lizard were found, and Smith and Goodhue offered their find to the University of Utah.

FLOODED LENS MINES TO BE WORKED AGAIN

(Correspondence of Associated Press)
 LENS, France, June 29.—For the first time since the occupation of Lens by the Germans, coal has been brought up to the surface from one of the mines. Many of the mines are still flooded but the pumping out continues. Engineers in charge of the work express the opinion that the exploitation of the upper workings of the mines will be resumed about the middle of 1921.
